Okays Group Union Setup As Efficient

NEW YORK - After a full week of research into the structure of the Union National apparatus and the workings of the New York Branch, endorsement of both units has been voiced by the Committee to Investigate the Efficiency of the Union Structure. The report further recommends that a similar committee be elected in each port.

The report, signed by the majority of the group, follows:

The Committee elected April 10, 1946, at the regular New York Meeting submits that it thoroughly delved, as per the motion, into the structure of our Organization and reports the following:

We checked the structure of the Headquarters and are agreed that that body is functioning efficiently and steps are being taken to carry out the recommendations of the last Auditing Committee. Your Committee explored the possibility of reducing expenses but our investigations disclosed that the Headquarters and the Branches responsible to it are operating satisfactorily. It was pointed out in discussions that some Branches are maintained from the General Fund for the convenience of the membership, despite the fact they are port." not self-supporting. We fully endorse this principle.

Your committee went into the matter of the Organizing System and reports that we are unanimous in endorsing it in its entirety and urge the members to give it its fullest support.

In the matter of the New York Branch, we were taken on a conducted tour by the Agent who explained in detail the workings of the several departments. We are agreed that this Branch is working at peak efficiency and any reduction in personnel with a view to cutting expenses would be ill-advised. We might add that some members of your committee were of the opinion that in some respects, it was understaffed.

Your committee invited all interested members to bring in any proposals they might have. The majority of these members were of the opinion that the Branch was understaffed. Many of them felt that among other things cer-

The Isthmian election, meanwhile, had progressed close to the half-way mark, with 39 ships having been voted to date.

Volunteer organizers aboard Isthmian ships which have voted so far report a substantial margin of the votes being cast for representation by the Seafarers.

Seamen Good

Here's a good deal for merchant seamen if they live in Connecticut.

Any resident of that state who has left merchant marine service with 32 months' seatime may claim an annual $1000 property tax exemption. Provisions of a 1943 state statute provides such exemptions for honorably discharged members of the U.S. armed forces, said Assistant Attorney General Bernard Kosicki in a recent opinion.

Breaks WSA, Shipowners' Collusion

NEW YORK, April 19-The SIU emerged victorious yesterday from its fight against collusive action between the WSA and shipowners on the foreign transportation rider.

All demands of the Seafarers on the foreign rider were met.

The Union and operators have agreed to meet in the near future to cover all points on all types of riders under a collective bargaining agreement.

This will assure full security for the SIU without interference by government bureaus.

The rider victory is an important step in backfiring the Unionbusting move of the WSA-Shipowner collaboration. Throughout the negotiations the WSA held the threat over the head of the SIU of reallocating ships to NMU-contracted operators.

The record shows that the NMU would be glad to move "hot" ships on a finky WSA deal of this sort. They pulled just such a stinker several months ago when the WSA reallocated eight ships tied up on a SIU-SUP quarters beef job action on the West Coast.

Furthermore, the commies ships under similar conditions.

The rider victory is another instance of all seamen benefitting by the militant action of the SIU. Seafarers bucked the combined strength of the shipowners and government agencies alone.

Text of the rider follows:

Unity 'Phisteris'

Among followers of the horse tracks there is a word for it: phisteris. It is a beautiful word, as are most word: coined for a purpose. In racetrack parlance "phisteris' is applied to anything of doubtful value. A tout's tip is a lot of phisteris. A mutual ticket on a horse that lost is just so much phisteris. The bragging of a losing jockey or trainer is phisteris.

We bring this phisteris point to bear because we think there is no word which so adequately describes the "movement for Unity in maritime," to be nurtured at a meeting in San Francisco on May 6.

We would like to say forthrightly that the movement is phisteris, pure and simple.

And the reason we have gone to such pains to bring the race track to sea is that we do believe in maritime unity, We believe there is a real and definite need for unity among the maritime unions, and that much good can be accomplished by such unity.

But it is a far cry between real maritime unity and the phisteris unity proposed by the so-called Joint Maritime Publicity Committee. One of the handbills gotten out by the committee shows the political purposes of the Unity Program. Listed among the sponsors of the conference is, and we quote directly: "Members of the International Longshoremen's Association, AFL."

There the whole import of the Unty Program is revealed baldly and nakedly: the Communist-dominated maritime Unions, led by Joe Curran's NMU and Harry Bridges' ILWU, are out to raid the ILA. The tactics will be the same as those employed during last October's ILA waterfront strike: the CIO will be using a small group of ILA malcontents to try to move into the East Coast.

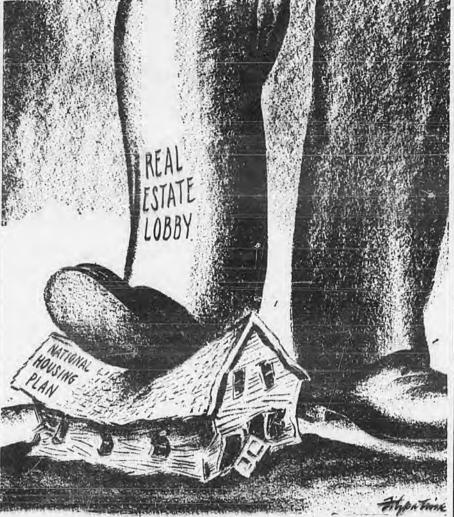

All of the unions which will be represented at the conference will be CIO unions, with the exception of the Marine Firemen, Oilers, and Watertenders of the Pacific. And woe betide the MFOW! You can look for that independent outfit to be gobbled up by the NMU before the many syllables of its name can be enunciated.

But even that isn't the full import of the "Unity in Maritime" movement. First off, there is the dubious tie-up between Bridges and Curran, representing two of the CIO's most powerful—and most dissident—unions. There, according to the best qualified observers, you'll have a real struggle for power.

And yet, whoever wins, nobody's the winner. The choice between these two characters is a dubious one.

Yes, we're all for unity on the maritime front. But can you see unity in a deal like that?

We can't. That's why we say it's all phisteris.

The Seafarers have rolled up victory after victory in the past few years and the present campaigns will be no exception. The reason for this is that the SIU is a young progressive, Union with an active alert membership. When an issue came up it was met with the full united strength of both officials and membership.

When the Seafarers moved into the present New York Hall in September, 1944, there were some greybeards who bemoaned the move on the grounds that the Union was assuming too big an obligation. Their opinion was honest enough but faulty, as a trip through the Hall shows today.

Every inch of available space from the door to the sixth floor is in use with basement space being used for some of the technical equipment.

. The dispatchers and recreation halls are crowded from opening to closing time and it is a tribute to the membership that a drunk is seldom seen.

In 1944 there was ample space for large offices and much less cramped secretarial and operational space, but that has changed

Nearly every week it has been necessary to move another desk and a few filing cabinets into some already overcrowded office or to erect some new partition to create additional space.

Experience On The Job

The experience that has been gained in the Isthmian campaign has served the Union well and has shown just what can be accomplished when all sections of the Union apparatus work as one. It has definitely proven that in order to successfully conduct any sizable action this working unity must be achieved.

Through this campaign the Seafarers has learned that certain types of men are excellently qualified for certain types of jobs and to obtain the best results the right spot must be found for the right

A Patrolman may be just the man to payoff and sign-on ships; he may be able to settle beefs aboard ship and yet be absolutely no good on a committee arguing the point out in a conference with company officials.

An Organizer may be able to work day after day with the shoreside apparatus, dodging the company guards, and lining up crew after crew and still as a crewmember himself unable to win over a single man.

Hundreds of ships organizers have developed in this campaign and these, together with those who have worked in the shoreside apparatus, are the ones who will lead the Seafarers in the struggles that are bound to come.

Learning Union Operation

A Union official cannot long remain a specialist. In all ports, especially, an official must be alert to all matters and generally prepared to meet issues and act on them immediately. Often a few hours delay greatly embarrasses the settlement of an issue.

The policy of the SIU has been to avoid any specialization by changing jobs around, so that everyone would have an opportunity to learn the operation of the entire Union apparatus and be able to fill in anywhere at anytime. In many of the smaller ports the few Union officials have to do everything from the Janitor work to keeping the books. When any issue arises they have to be able to act on it right away.

No member or official can know too much about Union operation. Every day new problems arise and in the near future the Union is going to be faced with all sorts of issues which will have to be met and fought out on the spot.

The Need For Expansion

Winning the Isthmian election doesn't mean the end of organizational work. In the Gulf Area the towboatmen are already beginning to organize on a large scale. The Inland boatmen and rivermen want organization and are asking the SIU for it.

There are still thousands of seamen sailing on unorganized ships in the coastwise and foreign offshore trade. So long as one man or one Company in the maritime field remains unorganized the job of the Seafarers isn't finished.

To meet the demands of the future the Union must streamline its apparatus into a smashing power. No port where ships call can be neglected. The membership pays dues and has voted a number of assessments to safeguard their interests. This money is in the Union treasury, not to gather moss, but to draw interest in the form of better conditions, higher wages, and still better representation.

Time Is Ripe For Action

The Seafarers has the forces with which to work. The Isthmian campaign alone has developed hundreds of potential leaders for the struggles yet to come. The leadership of the SIU has undergone a

Isthmian Men Urged To Remain On Ships After They Have Voted

By EARL SHEPPARD

Voting has been going on pretty regularly on the Isthmian ships, and by the end of this week almost half of the fleet will have voted. On some ships, only a small percentage of the crew are eligible to vote, but on the majority a fair percentage of eligibles are found.

A factual survey of the situation indicates that up to the present the Seafarers are winning with a substantal majority, some 70 percent of all ballots cast having been for the SIU. 51 percent of the total is required to determine the winner on the first ballot, otherwise a runoff election must be held between the two leaders.

Very few indicate that they are voting for the company and there is no doubt that the company will be on the tail end of the final tally. This doesn't mean that the company will give up right away, however. They will continue to try and get their own men aboard, and to try to win over the men who were ineligible to vote.

THE COMPANY ROLE

Steamship companies all work the same way, against the seamen. They are not dumbbells, however, and use everything possible to wean the seamen away from the Union even after elections are won and contracts signed.

Already the Isthmian line is getting more liberal with overtime, less insistent on bell to bell working and much more generous in the matter of conditions. Just as soon as the elections are over and the NLRB announces that the SIU has been certified as the sole bargaining agent, the company will bring wages, overtime and working conditions up to Union standards.

cause they are yielding to the reported that there was no need Union without further fight, or to blast the NMU, because the because they have suddenly become big-hearted. They bring conditions up to Union standards so that they can claim a written agreement and Union representation is no longer necessary since they have already established union conditions.

STAY ON THE SHIPS

This is the reason the company will endeavor to replace SIU members and those who have voted SIU, with men who have not participated in the campaign to organize the company, and who will think the new conditions aboard the ships were grant ed by the company without pressure, and who as a result will not actively support negotiations for a written agreement.

On the other hand, if the company by any chance wins any election, they would immediately lower wages and conditions to the lowest possible standards.

The Seafarers has participated in and won many elections, and the result has always been the same. The minute the results were announced, even before negotiations were opened, conditions

ced. This representation must be protected, and a binding written agreement negotiated as soon as possible. In any event, Isthmian conditions will immediately improve, even before the elections are over. Riding these ships won't be so tough as it was in the past.

FULL AHEAD

In the meantime, the Seafarers is looking ahead, and already other unorganized companies are being surveyed to determine which shall be the main point of concentration. The Union isn't going to stop, and there will be no slow bell on the organizing

As a result of growth and continued success of the Seafarers, it is now nationally recognized as the most powerful maritime union in the field. Every day requests come in from towboatmen, It is very important that SIU tugboatmen, inland waterway and rivermen, bargemen and ferry boatmen, for the SIU to send a representative to talk to

The SIU does not intend to let these men down. They want to organize, and they are going to get the opportunity. In this campaign to organize the entire industry every member of the SIU is an organizer, and with this sentation which will be theirs as kind of organizing force the Sea-

> Even more to the point, is the fact that many of the men who were hired by the company because of their avowed anti-union proclivities have been swayed by the strong SIU tide, and have announced that they would mark their Xs in the box marked Seafarers International Union.

NEW YORK-Captain Ramm of the South Atlantic's Coffeyville Victory was charged by his crew members with falsifying his log book, a circumstance which was attested to by the Purser, on arrival of the ship in port here, and upheld by the U.S. Shipping Commissioner at a hearing.

At the payoff the Commissioner, as a matter of routine, asked members of the crew whether they had witnessed their logs. All answered negatively. The Purser was questioned. He said, no, too. The Captain stormed and the Captain raged, threatening the Purser.

Then the Commissioner ordered the hearing. With the aid of Patrolman Jimmy Sheehan, he established the fact that no men had been called up to the bridge or to the Captain's stateroom to hear the logs brought against them or to sign the log book. All men logged had their logs void-

The madhouse payoff also featured disputed overtime. Most of this was in the Steward's Department, where, in the course of a three-month trip to South America five successive Stewards donated their fast services to the company, adding to the overtime confusion. Beefs were settled to the crew members' satisfaction by Patrolman Colls, Hart and Sheehan.

rapid turnover and there is always room for capable and aggressive members in that leadership.

No one can draw a perfect blueprint of the future, but the things that are happening today give a pretty clear picture of what can be expected. The collusion of the WSA, Coast Guard and other government bureaus with the shipowners is no matter of accident. It is a definite test of strength, a test to see whether the Union or the owners and bureaucrats will determine the conditions of the seamen.

Thus far the Seafarers has met all issues squarely, the Coast Guard, WSA Medical examinations, competency cards, riders, and dozens of others. In every instance the result has been a victory for the Seafarers.

The issues that have arisen thus far are important but they are of small stature compared to the attacks that can be expected in

To meet these attacks a strong vigorous Union is needed. Every ounce of Union energy, every facility, every resource, must be devoted to the fullest education of the entire membership in preparation for the struggles to come.

A letter from a Brother who quoted an employee of the United Seamens Service as saying that merchant seamen had been babied too much during the war and it would have to cease, was received. (See letter page.)

QUESTION: What did the United Seamens Service do for you during the war?

WILLIAM PARKER, AB-

Those phonies never did anything for me. Most of the clubs were cold and uncomfortable, and we were made to feel almost unwelcome. The club in Panama wasn't too bad, but the rest were pretty poor. The people who worked in the clubs never did any favors for seamen, but they made us feel that everything they did was a favor. I guess maybe they thought that acting decently to ordinary seamen, not officers, is babying them.

HENRY E. SOHL, AB-

Why, they never went out of their way for anyone. They got paid for everything that they did. I never asked them to do me a favor, but from the way they did the routine stuff they were supposed to do, I can bet they would have raised quite a fuss. When they talk about babying us, they are plain nuts. First they don't want to do us any favors, and then they want to remain in existence for a while longer. It just doesn't add up.

PAUL SCHAD, AB-

They must hide those clubs in the hills. They are hard to find, and when you find one it isn't worth it. I don't know what they mean by babying us. We had to pay for everything we got, and the prices were not low. Sometimes they would make a fuss about the seamen and tell them what heroes they were, but that isn't babying them. We were all in the war together, and it doesn't sound so good to hear that they think they were babying us during all that time.

LEONARD C. WALBERG, AB-

I have been in quite a few of their clubs and I have never been babied. On the other hand, sometimes the people who worked there weren't even civil. You know, they think they are doing you a favor by telling you the right time. We became fed up with their attitude, and we only went there when we had no place else to go to. If the don't like us, and don't want to baby us, as they say, then why don't they dissolve and leave us alone? The war's over, and they can close charged Captain Bert E. Smith with failure to comply with Section 673 of the Seaman's Act, and with violation of Rider No. 7 of the Ship's Articles. In accordance with the law, the crew requested the U.S. Consul General at Shanghai to hold appropriate hearings, and see that the law was enforced. On March 14th, the crew held a special meeting aboard the Holmes to discuss the Captain's actions, and a committee of three was elected to carry through on the charges. The committee drafted a letter to the U.S. Consul General at Shanghai containing the following detailed charges: "We, the crew of the Kathleen S. Holmes, through our undersigned representatives do

His First Log, A Real Phony, Lifted In Port

To Hiram F. Haines, a Chief Cook who has been sailing since 1922, came his first log recently.

Brother Haines was aboard the Florence Crittenden, out of Baltimore, and had received nothing but compliments from the Captain on his cooking until the beef in question came up.

That followed the Captain's request that he be saved some supper, since he was coming aboard late. Haines did as he was told, and as the Messman was serving the Skipper told him to be sure to put in overtime for the late service.

DOG FOOD?

The Skipper asked Haines if he intended to put in overtime, too. "Sure," said Haines. worked overtime, didn't I."

"Yes," the Captain admitted, "but the meal wasn't fit for a dog."

"You ate all of it, Captain."

"Sure, I was hungry," the Captain said, "but that meal still wasn't fit for a dog; who the hell do you think you are, anyhow."

"I might ask you the same question, sir. You may be Jesus Christ on the high seas, but in port you're just another Captain to me."

"By God, I'll log you for that remark," the Captain roared.

He did. He logged Haines for $200.67 for the remark.

But he couldn't make it stick. The Shipping Commissioner told the Captain he couldn't make it stick. So the Captain of the Florence Crittenden backed water, and Chief Cook Haines was paid

CONSUL STALLING

Committee reported at another crew meeting on March 15th, and a motion was carried authorizing the special committee to take such actions as they saw fit regarding the charges against the skipper.

Another meeting was held on March 19th, and discussion arose regarding the shortage of tobacco in the slop chest, as well as on the charges. The 3-man committee was further authorized to represent the crew in the matter of cigarettes, and empowered to call a meeting for trial purposes.

Further reports from volunteer organizers Larsen and Suall state that continuous organizing progress is being maintained aboard the Holmes, and that by the time she returns to this country and is voted, she'll be in good shipshape form for the Seafarers.

The last radiogram from the Holmes reports that the Consul at Shanghai is apparently stalling. However, the full strength of the Seafarers is being massed behind these Isthmian seamen who are being victimized by an unscrupulous Captain who cares more about saving Isthmian a few dollars in overtime rather than in the safety and well-being of his men.

In the event that further action on these charges is impossible at Shanghai, a complete investigation and hearing will be insisted upon by the Seafarers International Union when the Kathleen Holmes arrives back in this country some time within the next two months.

NMU Sails Picketed Ship

TAMPA, April 5 - The NMU sailed a strike-bound, picketed ship from this port this morning The vessel, the LaSalle Seam of the Atlantic Coast Line, was being picketed by striking phosphate miners.

This pernicious, NMU-tactie was in violation of a pledge made earlier to the president of the phosphate miners that the picket line would be respected.

The picket line was thrown around the ship when half the cargo of phosphate had been loaded. Longshoremen working the ship immediately quit.

The Atlantic Coast Line, notorious scab-employing outfit, finished loading the ship with scab labor. Then the NMU, demonstrating greater allegiance to the company, backslid on its promise to the miners. The president of the miner's organization was informed that the NMU had held a meting and had voted to sail the ship.

Most of the original crew refused to accept the fink decision and walked off the ship. The NMU, which holds a contract with the ACL, sent another crew to replace the more union-conscious members.

Criticism Of Piecards Brings Fast Expulsion For An NMU Oldtimer

One of the tactics of commiedominated unions is to yell "redbaiter" whenever someone has the nerve enough to stand up in the union meeting and ask questions of the officials.

One such union is the NMU. In the NMU it is unconstitutional to criticize the officials or question union policy. And in the NMU charges can be brought against a member if he defends himself against goons.

Henry P. Boslooper, NMU No. 48675, found out all these things -to his sorrow. He stood up in a New York branch meeting and said that he didn't want the union officials to plan a policy so as to follow the line of any political party.

He didn't mention the Communists, but everybody knew what he was talking about. And then the fun started.

RIGHTS DENIED

First of all, he was told by the Philadelphia Agent, who was present at the meeting, that this type of criticism was unconstitutional and would not be tolerated.

Later that same evening, when he went into a bar, he was set upon by a couple of "strong-arm" gorillas, and warned that his "red-baiting" would have to stop. If he persisted in raising embarrassing points at union meetings, they threatened to really do a job on him.

All this to a man who joined the NMU in 1939 and has served in responsible capacities for the union, both on ship and ashore.

A few days after the meeting in question, Boslooper was in NMU New York hall, and one of the stooges tried to rough him up. He, of course, defended himself, but he was put out of the hall, and has been refused admittance since then.

On March 20 he was charged with conduct unbecoming a union member in that "he is guilty of starting a fight in the lobby of the union building and red-bait-

CURRAN UNAVAILABLE

It is significant that Boslooper has not been admitted to the union hall to defend himself. He has also tried to see Joe "Quick Change" Curran, president of the NMU, but so far he has not been able to get an "appointment" to see him.

As Boslooper puts it, "I guess Joe is so busy organizing his one big union and May Day demonstrations that he doesn't have time to see the members of his own union. If I was in the right group in the NMU, I bet he would see me fast enough."

Lately Boslooper's life has been even more exciting. Twice within the past two weks he has been tailed by goons, but each time so far, he has managed to outwit

"I want to ship out on an SIU ship," he says, "so that I can feel safe again. I know that those guys won't stop at anything-especially now when they know that many members are fed up with the union's dictatorial methods."

CHANGES DUE

Boslooper feels that many fitted out as a pleasure craft.

HENRY P. BOSLOOPER

changes are imminent in the NMU set-up.

"A lot of the oldtimers don't like the way the union terrorizes those who speak out against the Communist Party domination of the policies of the NMU. Many of the men who helped organize the union are not communists, and don't even like the commies."

It is interesting to note that the charge sheet which was handed to Boslooper has no signatures on it, although the charges are supposed to have been brought against him by other NMU members.

Plenty Of Jobs Savannah

By ARTHUR THOMPSON

SAVANNAH-Shipping took a holiday while I was at the Agents' Conference in New York but when I returned the ships started ganging up on Savannah.

We paid off six ships last week and we still have a few more which we expect to payoff in the very near future. They are in Charleston and they'll be paying off when they get rid of their

Paying off two ships in the same ay is no hardship, but when one is in Savannah and another is 125 miles away in Charleston it becomes a problem; so we had to put Mac on the job again so our members could get the cooperation they expect and are entitled to.

We did manage all of them, however, and most of the beefs were settled at the payoff. There were two minor beefs with Alcoa which they flatly refused to pay, and these we were compelled to send to Headquarters.

NO LIST

We have plenty of jobs on the board at present and our shipping list looks rather sick. We've had to call some of the other Ports for help but there seems to be a scarcity of seamen all over.

We have five ships in port at the present writing but we could not hold a meeting due to the lack of a quorum.

Robert L. Ripley, of "Believe It Or Not," fame arrived this noon in a Chinese junk-type boat

After the War

1919 was a year of celebration and prosperity, especially for the shipowners. The public had not yet forgotten the "heroes in dungarees." The boys were coming home from overseas and every available American ship was loaded to capacity carrying tons of American made goods to the far corners of the earth.

Wartime agreements had expired and negotiations were entered into with the owners. At first, the owners refused the union's demands; but when a strike referendum vote was taken and a strike call issued, they quickly capitulated and an agreement was signed May 1, 1919 and expired May 1, 1921.

In this agreement a basic wage of $85.00 a month for AB's and $90.00 for Firemen was agreed upon.

TRAINING SCHOOLS

There was one fly in the ointment, however. In the early days of the war the United States Shipping Board had established a training school system for merchant seamen. Not so elaborate as the Maritime Commission program of today, nevertheless the idea was the same.

Ships were turned into training schools. The boys were dressed up in uniforms and although no real shortage of seamen existed the Shipping Board continued the recruiting program.

Dr. Paul S. Taylor in his history of the Sailors Union of the union. Pacific gives the following fig-

"Under these plans the Shipping Board began the training of crews in January 1918. Experienced men were enrolled at 6,854 official enrolling stations at drug stores throughout the country, were sent to the training stations for an average of six weeks intensive training, and then sent to sea in the proportion of four ordinary seamen to six able seamen. In this way the Sea Service Bureau of the Shipping Board trained and placed on board American ships 9,523 seamen, 9,053 firemen, and 5,333 employees of the Stewards' Department."

Thus we see that in the first World War, as in this one, the Government agencies were simply a bureaucratic strike-breaking setup spending thousands of dollars for the men recruited.

BLACK LIST

The United States Shipping Board made no pretense of representing anyone but the shipowners and subsidized operators. In each of the Sea Service Fink Hiring Halls, a file was maintained containing the names of all militant seamen.

Following the war, hundreds of these ships were practically given to the shipowners and, in turn, the U. S. Shipping Board gave huge subsidies for their operation, the subsidies more than paying for the ships in the vast majority of cases.

The end of the war instead of marking the end of this training program saw it intensified. Ships manned and loaded down with trainees were in every port. Unfortunately, no one seemed to regard them as a threat to the union and they were laughingly referred to as the "Hooligan

ON THE BEACH

The era of shipping prosperity was short-lived, and by the end of 1920 ships were being laid up by the operators-although the nation as a whole was witnessing a boom such as had never been seen before.

The laying up of ships threw hundreds of experienced seamen on the beach but undaunted by the fact that no longer was there the slightest excuse for its existence, the "Hooligan Navy" sailed merrily on, and recruiting all the way from the Bowery to St. Louis progressed steadily.

Early in 1921, the International Seamen's Union formally notified the shipowners of its desire to negotiate a renewal of the contract and were met with a stony silence.

During the war, and in the period of postwar prosperity, the shipowners and the U.S. Shipping Board had planned well and were now ready to launch their campaign to smash the seamen's Shipping was bad and seamen were plentiful. This was the shipowners' and Government's "reward" to the seamen for their wartime loyalty and sacrifice.

The 1921 Lockout

In the early months of 1921 the shipowners announced, not to the unions, but to the nation as a whole, that they had decided upon a 171/2 per cent wage cut. The International Seamen's Union, well aware of the sudden decrease in American export tonnage, was still willing to negotiate, even willing to accept the "status quo" and continue the agreement of 1919-1921 until some equitable agreement could be reached.

Then the shipowners gave an answer. They had no intentions of recognizing the ISU. A 171/2 per cent wage cut was the order of the day. An open shop would replace the Union hiring halls. Seamen would be dispatched through the "Sea Service Bureaus" (Fink Halls), no preference would be shown and no union would be recognized.

A strike vote was taken among the membership of the ISU and the answer was-"STRIKE."

On April 30, 1921 the operators This "black list" was called the announced that they no longer are still on file in Washington, ISU and that no member of the probably now the property of the ISU, unless dispatched through Maritime Commission. The USSB the "Sea Service Fink Bureau" like the Maritime Commission or the company personnel depart-

The "heroes" of 1917 and 1918 were forgotten.

May first, the union men walked ashore and the "Hooligan Navy" augmented by the riff-raff of America walked aboard, under police protection.

THESE MEN WHO WALKED ASHORE WERE THE PIO-NEERS OF OUR UNION OF TODAY.

There was no strike. The shipowners deliberately refused to recognize the union of seamen which had sailed the ships throughout the war. With the collaboration of the United States Shipping Board, they had for four years recruited the replacements necessary to sail the ships on the day of their determining.

This was a lock-out! A lock-out! A strike of the shipowners against the seamen. Men died in this lock-out-men who fought on the picket lines established in every port from coast to coast.

FINK HALLS

Needless to say, the lock-out was a success. The shipowners were victorious and proceeded to lower conditions to the absolute minimum through the United States Shipping Board Fink Hall apparatus. These Fink Halls operating under the name of "Sea Service Bureaus" operated under the absolute dictatorship of the shipping master.

There was no such thing as rotary shipping or preference due to length of time ashore. The men sat around on dingy chairs and benches waiting.

When a job was called the shipping master would look over the seamen crowding around the desk and pick whomever he wanted. A five dollar bill would buy almost any job and a letter from the company cinched the

Each shipping master kept a master file called the "deferred list" sent out from Washington. Discharges issued in this period had spaces for "Character, conduct and ability." If any Captain, Mate, Steward or Engineer labelled a Seaman as bad he went on the deferred list.

NO APPEAL

This meant that he was "black listed" with no right of appeal, thereby being forced to sail on the worst of ships if he sailed at all.

On the West Coast, as on the Great Lakes, the use of a continuous discharge "Fink Book" was prevalent. These books were issued on the lakes by the Lake Carriers Association and the

CONTRACT TALKS

By the time this gets to New York we will have finished on the contract with the Florida Power Corporation. We spent one entire day arguing with these people, and have made quite a bit of headway.

Because of the State Attorney-General in Florida, these Corporations are in a pretty good spot, according to the ruling laid down by this bum.

Any man working for a company can join, or not join a Union as he sees fit, and there is to be no discrimination against a man for not joining. We couldn't go for this, and told them that if that was the case there was no reason for us being the bargaining agents, that if the company could hire any man they wanted to and it was left up to the man whether or not he wanted to join the Union then there would be no Union on these tugs of theirs.

THROUGH UNION HALL

They eited the ruling of the Attorney General: no closed shops. We said okay; take that part out that says that a man must join the Seafarers, but insert that all men hired would come through our Hall. They agreed to this, to walk out to the dispatch desk

Shipping Lull Ends In Boston

BOSTON-We have just com- next sign-on will produce some pleted the slowest week in this port in many a year. Not a single payoff for the entire week. Nevertheless the ships in port had enough beefs to keep everybody going; especially the two Isthmians that were voted on Friday and Saturday.

The Patrolman said that the Stewards Department members would sign on first and that they had no "competence" cards. WSA waived this particular ship and she signed on without incident. The two Isthmians that were voted at this port were very satisfactory percentage - wise. But the news of the election came just a little too late to keep all the gang aboard. Many SIU votes piled off, but they can catch another Isthmian and utilize their voting eligibility.

ISTHMIAN VOTE

It looks from here as though Isthmian should be won easily. Yet it is no time for complacency; we must continue to work hard on the Isthmian campaign.

The Massachusetts Steamship Lines, Inc., dispute involving seamen, former members of the SIU. is still in the hands of a Labor Commission. A decision should be rendered after a final hearing this week, which will be attended by Secretary-Treasurer Hawk.

FINAL DISPATCH

One of our oldest and bestliked Brothers, Joe Saunders, passed away in Mobile last week, and was buried from his home in Boston a few days ago. A great many of the members paid their last respects to Joe and the Branch sent a nice floral tribute.

Many of his old cronies and shipmates were on a trip when he died, and will be saddened to read this issue of the Log and find that old Joe has left our ranks.

The lull mentioned in the opening paragraph is over. Three payoffs coming up in the next two days and a chance for some of the older cards to get moving.

But, this isn't the case with the unrated men, the jobs disappear as soon as they are called from the board.

To date we have voted one An old friend just pulled into Isthmian ship in this port. It port after a long trip. Some of was the SS Sea Flasher. The you oldtimers from New York SIU polled 95 percent of the votes as there were only six men aboard who voted NMU and nonunion. This is a fine record and it plainly shows the ability of SIU men and organizers who have cards have taken their gear and been sailing Isthmian ships.

The NMU organizers made a grand attempt to make a show at the election and even after the voting was over, but the crew turned their backs as they had already gone under the banner of the Seafarers.

They knew, as all Isthmian men know, that the SIU has the most to offer in conditions and wages. The SIU record speaks for itself.

We have quite a few ships due for the coming week and shipping will hold good, especially for rated men.

We have several ships tied up because of Rider 64, which the WSA is trying to shove on the seamen. But John Seaman is getting tired of being pushed around by the WSA and plainly shows it.

The boys are just going to sit tight in the harbor until they receive instructions from Headquarters, as to the final settlement of this beef.

Galveston Gets New Hall

By D. L. PARKER

GALVESTON-I have just returned from the Agents Conference and I sincerely believe that it was the best one that I have ever had the privilege to attend. that shipping and business were very good.

We are now looking for another Hall and I believe that I have found one that will be suitable for our purpose. It is 40 feet wide by 12 feet long and it is situated in the business district close to the waterfront and will seat about 300 men.

ISTHMIAN VOTE

We have an SUP man here now to take care of the SUP ships and that is some relief to us. His name is Jack Hines and he is on the ball day and night.

We voted an Isthmian ship this past Friday, the Norman E. Mack, and we carried her by a big majority.

On the beach here we have quite a few of the oldtimers, Windy Walsh, Frenchy Michelet, Jack Kelly and numerous others and it is a pleasure to talk to men like them as they know the score and do not ask damfool would-be seaman.

REDUCE SEATIME

Concerning fellows still in the draft age, I was talking to some of the WSA officials on having the seatime reduced. In my estimation, I think that anyone with 18 months seatime during the war should be draft deferred.

The way it stands now, the required 32 months seatime will keep a lot of young fellows from returning to school until God knows when. Men who want to work ashore will be forced to stay at sea.

DETROIT - The SIU set the? wage scale again for the Great D&C Signs Lakes - the highest scale of wages of any seamen in the world.

And now, the phony Lake Carriers Association, composed of and controlled by the largest group of ship owners on the Lakes, comes through with an increase of a few dollars over our scale. And they still have their phony bonus system in effect, which is extra compensation for staying on their ships the entire

The bonus was accepted by the SIU in lieu of an increase in wages during the war, when wages were frozen and it was impossible for the unions to get any increase in wages.

Immediately after the war this bonus clause was eliminated from the SIU's contracts, and was applied to our wages, payable monthly instead of at the end of the season.

SIU SETS WAGES

It is a well known fact that the wages of Lakes seamen is set by the SIU. The reason for the Lake Carriers Association's grant of a few dollars more is also well known: A miserable, contemptable trick to discourage future seamen from joining a Union, also an attempt to discourage men who are already in the Union.

Any thinking seaman knows as long as the shipowners keep one step ahead of the Union, there will be less incentive for men to join the Union, but it must be stressed to the new men and our own members, too, that if the SIU is allowed to die, eventually all wage scales, living conditions, into an automobile carrier. etc. will be entirely up to the shipowners and we can't say a damned thing about it. This ters. This ship was sold recentcondition still exists in and on ly to the D & C Company; her Lake Carrier ships.

Regardless of the few dollars difference in pay it should be Midland Steamship Company. brought to the attention of future members the advantages Union ships have over non-union ships -the rotating system of shipping, the right to bring any beefs to the attention of Union Officials, indiscriminate hiring and firing and other advantages too numerous to mention here. These advantages will never be granted by the Lake Carriers Association.

NO UNION, NO PAY

They have only been granted to SIU ships because the SIU fought for them in the past and will fight for them in the future. The phony Lake Carriers Association is well aware of this fact and will naturally do anything in its power to discourage their employees from joining the SIU, hence their grant of a slight increase in pay. But it must be remembered by all seamen that if there is no Union, there will also be no pay for seamen.

If this year the Lake Carriers only operate sixty percent of their vessels, they will have Mates wheeling and watching, Engineers oiling, firing and even passing coal. Whom then will the unorganized seamen have to turn to for protection?

If the unorganized seamen who enjoy the present wage scale on the Great Lakes believe that they are a free gift of the shipowners and that they will remain so without any effort on their part to sustain them, they are laboring under a delusion.

New Agreement

By WILLIAM STEVENSON

DETROIT - Well, the weather is a little cool this past week, but the weather does not affect me very much because the help is busy around this Port.

We have got two passenger boats running now-the D & C boats. We just signed another agreement with this company. It has been in operation for about seventy-five years and we have had fifty agreements with them and not one major work stoppage in all that time.

We are getting the highest wages of any sailors in the world, and the best working conditions and hours. We expect to be running around day and night in about another month trying to keep our boats running smoothly.

Our wage scale is for Quartermaster, $216.00; AB, $209.00; Firemen, Oilers, and Watertenders $209.00; Ordinary Seamen, $171.00; Coalpassers, $168.00; and Porters $171.00; 2nd Cooks $200.75. In other words we got a flat increase of $31.00 per month for Line. everybody in the unlicensed personnel group.

The Connecting Terminal grain elevator on the Blackwell canal was closed today for the first time in seven years, as the result of a critical shortage of grain here for exporting and domestic milling.

I see that Brother Herb Jensen, Chicago Port Agent, will have to brush up on his foreign languages as the vanguard vessels that will reopen the all-water Europe to Chicago trade were en route across the Atlantic today for the first time since the outbreak of World War II.

Papa Jensen will be pleased to hear that the first cargo to arrive is cod liver oil.

The La Farge, American Range Lines, was out for almost eleven months. During this time the crew was logged a total of $3,000.00. The three Delegates told me all about it, and most of the loggings sounded like bum beefs. So we talked it over with the Skipper and after a little persuasion he agreed to lift all the loggings. Everything came out okay, and the Captain acted like a square shooter instead of the way some of the "brass" acts.

Army Man Shows How He'd Do It

If Army Captain Charles Bone had his way, seamen would be executing snappy salutes, clicking their heels and serving as the Captain's personal orderlies.

Bone is the troop commanding officer aboard the SS Cody Victory. From the ship's minutes, it appears he wouldn't mind being admiral of the whole damn fleet. Pet boast of our Army friend is that he can commandeer the ship whenever he so decides.

And furthermore, he claims, he could force the crew to eat any place. Like the laundry for example.

Digested Minutes Of SIU Ship Meetings

Almighty Skipper Is Taken To Task

A complaint that "the Skipper thinks he's God" headlines the minutes of the SS Bell Ringer, dated March 20, and sent in by Chairman Red Davis and Secretary Eugene Dore.

The minutes charge that the Captain insulted one crew member by calling him "trash" and stated that all the men were dogs. He also allowed the officers to bring beer on board at St. Croix, but would not permit the craw the same privilege. He endangered the lives of the crew members by ruling that all unlicensed personnel had to use the outside ladders on going up to the wheel.

A note of humor was injected into the proceedings. A stowaway, Ida Sierra, was discovered on board, and the crew promptly voted a tripcard for her.

The crew voted to request But, really, he wouldn't do overtime for getting linen after anything like that: because, says 5 P.M. on Saturday, and the Deck Gang wants the Mate to give his orders through the Bosun.

* * * Watch Your Coat On Powellton Seam

One of our jackets is missing! Thus read the minutes of the SS Powellton Seam, dated March 14, sent in by Chairman George Talley and Secretary Charles Cramp.

The minutes go on to say that if the thief is not apprehended, the Captain will order a shakedown inspection.

That something is wrong on board the vessel is further brought out by the mention made of money disappearing from crew members' lockers when they are left open.

The crew has also agreed to cooperate in keeping the ship clean, and they have asked that a radio be supplied for use in the crews' mess. Other repairs have been listed, and the Steward has promised a better variety of foods in the night lunches, and to have fruit juices for breakfast.

Messhall Spitting Swells Log Fund

You might get away with it in some other place, but not on the Buntline Hitch you don't. If you're caught spitting in the messhall you're liable to a maximum fine of $10.00.

On a recent voyage a plan was instituted to keep the messhall in clean and orderly fashion. Fines, ranging from 50 cents for marking tables to $10 dollars for spitting and fighting, were imposed on offenders.

So successful was the plan-the condition of the messhall was much improved-that it was decided at a recent membership meeting to retain the fines on the next trip, the minutes reveal.

Proceeds of the levies, amounting to $19, were turned over to the Log as a donation.

Brothers Vandervert and Mitchell acted as chairman and secretary, respectively.

Steward Eschews Meetings

The boys aboard the William Harper have a hot beef against the Acting Steward aboard that ship. At the March 3 ship's meeting everyone turned up at roll call except the AS. A committee was sent after him, and he informed them he did not have any intention of attending that meeting or any other.

The crew voted to turn this information over to the Agent on arrival in port, along with other beefs against him, the minutes of the meeting, submitted by Secretary J. Case and Chairman T. Goodwin, reveal.

In the discussion of the beefs brought up in the previous meeting, it was noted that beefs which were brought up had been practically eliminated. The ship's Delegate explained the settlement of the night lunch beef. This was taken up with the Captain. He instructed the Steward to include ham in the night lunch three times a week, and insisted that all the ham aboard should be used in the present voyage.

Beefs against the Steward's De-, partment were:

Running out of meat before all erew was served. The Chief Cook promised to cook more meat hereafter.

Serving tomatoes and salad dressing to officers and not serving them to the crew.

It was voted to have the Ship's Delegate contact the Captain for permission to have a Wiper soogie the alleyway belonging to the Engine Department crew quarters, since the First Assistant was of the opinion that this work did not belong to the Engine Department.

The crew also passed a motion to make more specific the ruling made in reference to donations for the Log for failure to keep the messhall clean. It was decided that this would include leaving cups, coca cola bottles, glasses and refuse on tables, throwing butts on deck and leaving night lunch out of the ice box. 1 1 1 Look Out, Buster; You May Be 'Robust'

Crew members of the SS Spartansburg Victory had better be on their toes-their tip-toes, in fact. Anyone guilty of waking the sleeping crew by "robust action" stands to part with $5.00. And "robust" can cover a multitude of actions.

At a recent membership meeting, the crew decided to impose maximum fines of $5.00 on members adjudged guilty of misconduct, uncleanliness, disturbing the erew, etc.-a policy, which, incidentally, seems to be getting universal acceptance by SIU crews.

Proceeds of the levies are to be donated to the nearest hospital in the port of payoff.

LINCOLN VICTORY, Feb. 19-Chairman Wilkins; Secretary J. Freschette. Motions carried: Impostion of small fine for non-attendance of meetings and proceeds be sent Brothers ill in Marine hospital; to check springs on bunks, repair where needed, paint Engine shower and head; all electrical appliance repairs to be done by crew where needed. Chief Steward explained that inadequacy of stores brought aboard made menus dificult problem, but that he would make up for it as best he could. Alex. G. Bell Story Is Really A Cutter

A rather cutting situation has been revealed aboard the SS Alexander G. Bell.

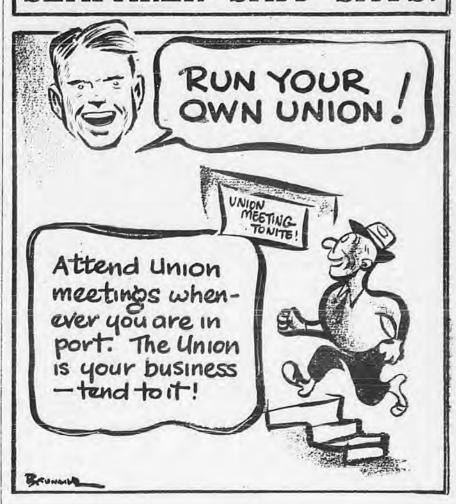

Attention was called to a sharp Dear Editor; practice existing in the slop chest, We are appealing to you for of the death of their loved ones. where razor blades single and double edge are double the price

The crew, their whiskers and indignation bristling, raised their collective chins and voices to demand that the razor's edge be applied to their cheeks and not their pocketbooks.

It was so stated in the minutes submitted by Orvil Burks, secretary who wielded the brush; and Harold Butts, chairman, who tried to control the boys' lather.

New Echota Hung Up Off Mobile 16 Days

A strongly-worded appeal to ning low for some time. ter to the Press Register was sent to the SIU.

The letter is dated April 5, and reveals that at that time the New Echota has been riding at anchor off Sand Island Light for 16 days, awaiting orders from the Pacific Tankers Agent to enter the harbor of Mobile.

Food is short along several lines, the letter states, for the hang-up comes at the end of a crew of another vessel who travthree-month trip.

The SIU is investigating the situation, and a full report will open Gulf) for same. Most of the be made by the Mobile Agent.

The letter to the Press Register follows:

your aid in assiting us with our problems which have arisen aboard our ship, the SS New Echota.

After completing a three month's voyage and withstanding several severe storms, in the North Atlantic, which you have no doubt read about, recently, and making four Atlantic crossngs; we have been riding anchor off Sand Island light house for 16 days, since the 21st of March, awaiting orders from the Agent to enter the harbor of Mobile.

We have faithfully fulfilled the agreement signed between the crew and the shipping company to the best of our ability.

It is our belief that the public is unaware of the conditions and suffering that exist aboard this

At the present time we have several members of the crew who are suffering from various veneral diseases who are in dire need of medical assistance. Not only do we not carry a doctor but our supply of penicillin and other drugs have been exhausted for some time.

We are appealing to the taxpayers of Mobile to inquire into this matter (as this ship is operated at the expense of the Government plus the profit of the Agents) by contacting Mr. Franks Cox, Agent of Pacific Tankers, Inc. Any assistance that can be offered to us in having the ship berthed as soon as possible will be greatly appreciated. Once at the dock our badly needed supplies can be easily obtained. It appears as though little or mo effort is being made to bring as to the docks.

THE MEMBERSHIP SPEAKS

YOUNGER SEAMEN LACK AWARENESS OF OBLIGATIONS

Dear Editor:

I understand that the Log is an organ where a man may express his opinion. I would be happy to see this letter printed, for I believe the topic I am going to speak on is an important one, which needs a lot of discussing, and one in which we are not living up to our obligations.

Let us understand that a workingman has not only the privileges his Union gains for him but also obligations. Obligations to his fellow workers and to his employer. These include cleanliness, a thorough knowledge of his duties in the capacity in which he sails and a willingness to execute these duties.

In this a great many of our members have become very lax. We must realize that, in all fairness, an employer has the right to expect that his stores and equipment will be well taken care of in return for the salaries he pays his employees. It will also be easier for our officials to gain even better conditions for us if they have a rank and file who are capable and willing in their jobs, to back them up.

One example to make my meaning clearer:

The Chief Electrician who preceded me on this job was a drunkard, incapable or unwilling to do his work. His name does not matter; it would be senseless to make a case out of a single man, when the fault is with hundreds. The electrical equipment aboard this ship was in terrible shape when I took over. At least four winches were inoperative. This caused delay in loading and consequently, in departure. The shipowners lost money. Though we bear the shipowners in general no great love, it will appear to a just-thinking man that the owners are entitled to make money. There are of course, grievances on both sides. We get raw deals but sometimes we also give them.

But let us consider our own welfare: this business of broken down toasters and electric irons, the filthy messrooms, etc.

In wartime we always had the armed guard to blame, but now they are no longer with us. Yet the toasters, iceboxes, irons, etc. that are especially made for rough use, continue to break down regularly through misuse. Why is this? These things are placed there for our convenience. Why are they not taken care of?

The fault is probably mostly with the youngsters, the fellows who are away from home for the first time, and who think that Dear Editor: because mother no longer watches over them and makes them wash behind their ears that they can let themselves go completely, spit on the deck, dirty up the quarters and do just anything they please. But the fault is also with the older men because they don't get the young swaggering roughnecks in line. Make them toe the mark! Get them to clean up the laundries after they do their wash, rinse their cups after coffee time, and do all those little things that make life aboard ship more pleasant.

What is the use of clamoring for electric washers? They wuoldn't last two weeks when not even the old fashioned tubs are kept clean and the hand wringers are bent all out of shape in a few days through unthinking abuse.

There are hundreds of examples which it isn't necessary for me to enumerate, since you all know them. It is not sufficient that we post a notice on the bulletin board, "An SIU Ship Should Be A Clean Ship." Apparently nobody reads it. Anyway, few practice it. The old phrase "it makes it bad for the other fellow" doesn't express it adequately, either. Let us teach the kids just soon fix your wagon, but good. out of high school exactly what their obligations are.

My book number is Pacific 56, though I sail mostly out of New York.

THE LOG PULLS BONER LIKE THE MARK TWAIN OBIT

Dear Editor:

I am writing to you in regard to the article about the Lincoln Victory on page three of the April fifth issue of the Log.

I am reminded of the Mark Twain anecdote. The writer came across an erroneous report of his death in a newspaper obituary, commented that he might be wrong, but he considered the report "highly exaggerated."

Well, the Log has "highly exaggerated" the pulling of the papers of the Second Assistant Enginer of the Lincoln Victory. He was in the Boston Hall here, showing me his license, which could not have been taken from him as stated.

He says it was another Engineer.

How about clearing this up. E. Dakin, Patrolman EDITOR'S NOTE: If he says so, it must have been a couple of other Engineers. Sorry.

LOG IS MAKING THE ROUNDS IN L. I. HOSPITAL

Just a line to let you know that we are now receiving the Log here regularly, and that they are much appreciated.

SEAFARER CALLS HAND OF ENSIGN WHO WROTE LOG

Dear Editor:

So he can't understand why we have so many beefs. Well, the main reason is the officers; yes, I mean those almighty Ensigns who come out of school as mates and assistants. They think they got the world by the tail. Even the Pratt boys (Oh, excuse me, Ensign! I mean Cadets) seem to think they run the ships.

And as far as working with the companies and listening to a bunch of jerks, like the likes of you, that stuff went out with the wind. Not that I mean to be nosey, chum(p), but did you ever have to work for a living.

I sure would like to get on a ship with you as Mate. I would

SEAMEN BABIED DURING WAR, USS CHARACTER SAYS

Dear Editor:

I was shipped from Galveston to meet a tanker in Corpus Christi. I could not get my baggage from the Greyhound Terminal after 11 p. m., and the bus I was scheduled to get left Galveston at 11:30 p. m. I left word and also sent a telegram to have my baggage shipped to Corpus Christi, but by the time the ship was ready to leave, it had not arrived.

I therefore asked the United Seamens Service, not for a favor, but for a good deed. I asked them to send my baggage to New York, C. O. D. The lady there asked me how long I have been going to sea, and when I told her 22 months, she said that we have been babied long enough during the war.

I told her that she wasn't doing anything for me. I don't look for handouts since I can always work and earn my wages. She then asked me where I had come from. I said that I had come equable distribution of them from Galveston, where I had throughout the hospital, so that stayed at the U.S. Seamen's Club.

She then repeated that we were being babyed. I don't think them up; so you can see that so. I paid $1.00 to sleep in a little room with someone I didn't know; the next door neighbors could be clearly heard since the walls were like tissue paper; and

At this point I said, "Honey, where did you learn such lingo?" She replied, "Well, dear, I am the wife of a seaman and so we get the Log. I read it word for word. That's the answer."

BROTHER LIKES CAPTAIN FRITH AND UNION WAYS

Dear Editor:

On behalf of the crew who sail ed under the command of Captain Thomas Frith of the Seas Shipping Company, I want to say that it is a pleasure to sail with him.

He is 100 per cent for the Union and will cooperate with our Patrolmen in every way. In fact, he contacted the Big Shots in Washington to fulfill the transportation rider of our articles when the Agent in Houston pointed out that the agreement was not being lived up to.

He gave us every consideration and respect. He is a man of high caliber, and is on our side in the struggle for conditions and progress of seamen.

Carl B. Lawson

she says we are being babyed, and will have to learn to take care of ourselves once in a while.

Well, the ticket agent at the Trailways Terminal in Corpus Christi sent my baggage on to me. There you are, an outsider, not knowing anything about the Merchant Marine, treating us better than a woman who should know what we are up against.

Now the 8 to 12 is a fine old watch;

All we require is Women and Scotch. But the First and his God-damned

Sewing Machine Has got all of us off our beam.

How She rattles, screeches, bangs and roars Like a million fighting, scratching

Its the damnest sight you've ever

This Engine the First calls a Sewing Machine.

The l. p. is loose, The L. F. tight: Its like a nightmare on the darkest night.

The cross heads knock, but the rods are clean,

This pride of the First, This Sewing Machine.

But the feed pumps work once and a while

And I say this with a hopeful smile. When the hot well is full and the stop.

Now the Second's steaming at 64, The Bridge calls down demanding more;

Just then the Second takes a peep;

The starboard settler has sprung a leak.

So he calls the Bridge and say "What the Heck,

"I've got fuel oil all over the deck; "And if you want more revs go sit on a hatch

Cause this engine'll blow on the next guy's watch."

But this is all beside the point, As I stand my watch in this creaking joint;

And I listen carefully and watch

This Reciprocating Engine That's a Sewing Machine.

ALCOA'S ADOLPH HALF PREPARED FOR WITS BATTLE

Dear Editor:

This is the story of Alcoa's Adolf. It could be sub-titled "Why Seamen Become Farmers."

I went aboard the Cody Victory shortly before 1 p. m. on for rejecting me on the back of April 4. After making due reverence to the Alcoa Insigne on the stack, I made my way to the Chief's room. April Fool's Day was three days past so I believed this character when he told me he was the Chief Officer.

His first move was to ask me when I would like to turn to. I said that I would like to start the following morning as I had an appointment at the Marine Hospital that day.

He snapped, "You'll turn out today or not at all."

After deliberating for a few minutes, I told him that I would accept the job and hit the deck that very day as he had commanded. He then said that he didn't want me, and would call in for another man.

I asked him to write his reason my assignment card. He informed me at the top of his voice) that my presence aboard was as welcome to him as scurvy. I persisted in getting a reason.

"Get off the ship," he roared.

I knew I couldn't have a battle of wits with him, as it was obvious that he was only half prepared for such an encounter.

After having had the honor of his acquaintance for ten minutes, I have decided that I would ply on the Log question. We see rather ship out as Acting Ordinary on a prairie schooner than to sail with that poor man's Adolf Hitler. I heartily recommend him for promotion since he is typical of the Alcoa type of Mate.

THE BEACH COMBER URGES BACKING OF AGENTS' DECISIONS

Dear Editor:

Well, we have back in our midst our Agent Brother Ray after his absence to the Agent's Conference at the gay city of New York.

Business, as far as I can underwould consider not as bad as the

You know these fellows that never tarry around the hall cannot expect to get out, as sometimes the Agent has to get out and around these gin mills to find replacements for the ships.

Things are getting around to normal. Prices are getting down to almost half what they were selling for a year ago.

Rooms are still high and food still seems to be at a high price, so you should have a few dollars in your pocket before you pile off here.

This place is a hard one to be on the beach if you are not in the know especially if you have been living on the upper crust, and if you are not a professional beachcomber. For myself, I know the in and outs here and do not find it any trouble but someone else would not fare so well, as they would not find it so easy to get around.

Oh, well it is the talk around the water front that "The Texas Bar," is going to issue membership cards to Seamen and Longshoremen, now personally, I will give the Membership the lowdown on this place.

Mr. Marino was at one time Agent and Organizer here for the Seafarer's and when he went out of office, he opened this bar. I find that it is a little better than the run of bars in this section and, I know that he has a practice to give a little, as we all call it, on the house.

I have looked over the minutes of the Agents' Conference and I think a lot of good can come from it in the near future. We should do all we can in the following year to back up the men who tried so hard to make the Agents' Conference a success.

It has been called to my attention that some Union men are pawning their papers for a few dollars for a few drinks, and then writing to the Agent to get them back for them. I have taken this up with the Agent and he is going to take the necessary steps to put a stop to this in this port. The Beachcomber

HERE'S NEW BEEF ON NON-RECEIPT OF LOGS OVERSEAS

Dear Editor:

What is the reason the SIU Log is not being sent to some place where we members can get them? Have tried in several ports and completely failed to get or find one of any date. Please give us an immediate restacks of "NMU Pilots," in many places. We have no need for the Pilot as long as the toilet tissue lasts-so please give us the Log. We're now on Luzon and have been on this ship for 12 months and we are anxious to know whats cooking.

Delegate Carroll E. Martin Editor's Note: We've said it before, and we'll say it again: The Army won't forward papers from port to port. You'll have to give us an address to mail them to.

BROTHER DEMANDS THAT GAS HOUNDS BE KEPT OUT OF MEMBERSHIP MEETINGS

I would like to offer a suggestion with which I am sure many of the members will concur.

During the meeting of April 10 of the New York Branch, it was to the displeasure of nearly all of the Brothers gathered to discuss a very important matter to have several interruptions by Brothers under the influence of liquor. The chairman repeatedly had to tell one of the Brothers to be quiet, to sit down and finally to leave the Hall.

It is to your benefit and mine to stop this practice by not allowing anyone in that condition in the Hall.

If they must drink, they should stay clear of the meeting hall on such occasions. I am sure more will be accomplished by all concerned if that rule is fully enforced.

Vic Combs

P.S.: I believe it is the duty of the Doorman and the Master-at-Arms to enforce this rule.

Answer: Brother Combs has something here. It is the duty of the Doorman to bar anyone who is obviously under the influence of liquor from meetings. Sometimes, however, the Doorman doesn't observe how gassed up some of these characters are. If one of them gets past him, however, the chairman should not temporize with the disorderly member on the floor, but should immediately call the Master-at-Arms to have him put out of the meeting entirely.

BROTHER GIVES THANKS TO OLD CREW OF DEARN

Dear Editor:

I take the privilege of writing to you about the crew of the SS thank them through the Union paper for what they did for me when I broke my leg in Brest, France.

I want to thank them from the bottom of my heart, as I don't think I will ever be shipmates with a better or nicer crew of men and I am glad to be a Brother to them all. I'd like to thank the licensed personnel, too.

I will be here for at least four or five more weeks, which is a hell of a long time in a joint like this. These people over here, including the doctor, nurses and sisters, are doing their utmost to make my stay as pleasant as possible. The people here haven't a hell of a lot themselves, and very little to eat. We get two meals a day.

There have been six more Americans up here and we have been getting most of our eats from the ships. We pooled it all together and we didn't do so bad.

At present there is only one American here, and he is exlongs to the MCS. I have been only stayed 12 days. talking to him and have tried to the SIU, for I think Johnny is ter. good Union material. We have

PATROLMAN TEX GETS THANKS FOR PAYOFF HANDLE

Dear Editor:

Just dropping you a line because I want to publicly thank George H. Dearn. I want to Tex and his partner for the fine job they did at the payoff of the SS Citadel Victory of the Waterman Lines. Yes, he knows how to take care of Red Line Perkins of the New York office.

> Those two Patrolmen got all of the overtime except three and a half hours, and that was classed as ship's safety.

Another thing: I agree that there are too many phony Stewards that are catering to the topside, and forgetting that they belong to the unlicensed personnel. It is time that there be something done about it. Only thing I can suggest is for us Stewards to stay with the crew. I always have, and have as yet to come into port with a beef against my department.

There also are some phony Engineers who think they are God. We have one here - First Engineer Gruchawha. He thinks he can keep the boys from having overtime and threatens some of them. But from the latest reports he is being taken care of.

Here on the Reinhold Richter I think the boys are satisfied with the way the food is being put out for them. I have a fine bunch of boys in my department. Some of them have more than 100 hours overtime. Yes, they earned it.

I'd like to end up by thanking Patrolman Sweeney for the fine job he is doing in Galveston.

High Points In Trips Of Two SIU Ships

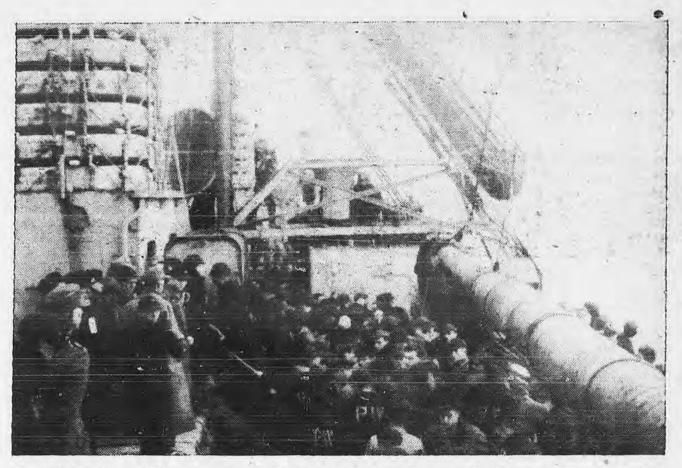

SCENES of devastation at foreign harbors are commonplace to Seafarers who hauled the implements of war for more than six years. Familiar, too, are the long lines of prisoners and the jubilant GIs returning to the U.S. But the pictures on this page will be history in a few short years. They will be an important documentation of the part the SIU played during the war and the period immediately following it. They were made by Seafarers aboard the Pittston and Lincoln Victories.

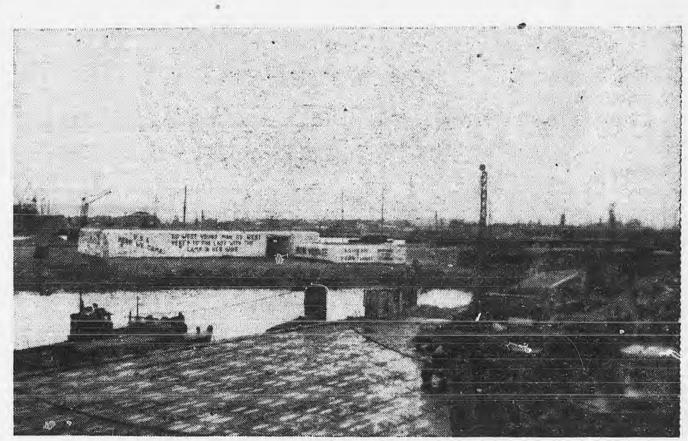

1. This crumpled bit of wreckage is all that is left of a once-formidable German pillbox on a pier in the harbor of Le Havre. It was taken from the Lincoln Victory on February 22.

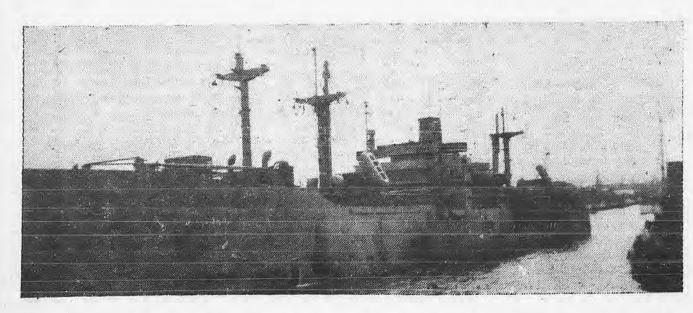

3. This was one of the more pleasant aspects of the return voyages of American troops—a sun bath in mid-Atlantic aboard the Lincoln Victory. Usually they were cramped below decks.

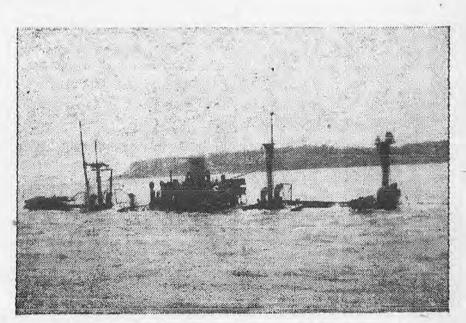

2. There is nothing masterful about these representatives of Der Master Race as they prepare to go ashore from the Lincoln Victory at Le Havre on February 22, 1946. There were 1,500 of them aboard this ship, and these were but a few of the thousands transported across the Atlantic in ships manned by SIU crews.

4. These German pillboxes looked plenty good to American soldiers when they saw them at Le Havre, painted white and bearing inscriptions: "Go West, Young Man," "Here's to the Lady With The Lamp," and others. The GIs were on their last lap on the European Continent. Now they would board U. S. ships bound for home.

5. Long and lean, but none too slick-looking in her wartime grey is the Pittston Victory as she lies alongside a pier at Bermerhaven, Germany. She's typical of the ships Seafarers sailed through the war zones—and after the war when the overseas bonus was removed, but dozens of ships still were sunk by mines.

6. Symbol of the U. S. seamen who went down to the sea in merchant ships is this hulk's superstructure projecting above the surface just outside the breakwater at Le Havre. She was sunk by a mine.
